

GENERAL TERMS AND CONDITIONS OF WEBSITE USE

This website is made available by the Safe Group (the company Safe and its subsidiaries) and is accessible to all.

These general terms and conditions of use define the legal and contractual framework governing the relationship between Safe and the users of this website. All use of the website presupposes acceptance of these general terms and conditions of use and of the associated rules of good conduct. By using the website, the user is considered to have agreed to these general terms and conditions of use.

The website's editor will remove from the website all clearly illegal content transmitted by third parties and assumes no liability in connection with such content, including but not limited to cases of infringement, defamation, pornography, incitement to racial hatred and pedophilia.

Safe reserves the right to change, at any time, the terms, conditions and notices of these general terms and conditions. The user is therefore advised to regularly consult the latest version of the general terms and conditions of use, available at all times on the website.

Intellectual property

All the information found on this website (the documents contained on the website as well as all the elements created for the website, including text, images, pictures, logos, reprographics, etc.) are the property of Safe or of its subsidiaries and are subject to copyright laws as soon as they are made available to the public on this Web server.

The Safe name and logo are registered trademarks of Safe. Any reproduction, use and/or modifications made without the prior written consent of Safe constitutes an infringement.

The presentation and content of this website represent a digital work owned by Safe, protected by current intellectual property laws. All reproduction and/or representation, whether in whole or in part, is strictly forbidden without the prior written consent of Safe.

The drawings, graphics, photographs, images, text, animated sequences with or without sound, and all the information presented on this website are subject to intellectual property rights.

Therefore, copying and use of such drawings, graphics, photographs, images, text, animated sequences with or without sound, documentation or information made available through this website are permitted only under the following conditions:

- The copies downloaded and/or printed must retain all copyright and other proprietary notices contained in the originals;

- These copies may under no circumstances be changed or altered;
- The graphics must not be used, copied or distributed separately from the accompanying text;
- The graphics and text are intended strictly for personal information purposes. As a result, their reproduction, exhibition, publication, broadcast or use for public or commercial purposes is prohibited.

In no event does the provision of such information by downloading or printing confer any right of ownership to the user.

Failure to comply with the above provisions is likely to constitute an infringement for which the offender may be held civilly or criminally liable.

Limitation of liability

The parties acknowledge that the Internet is an open network, created through the interconnection of computer networks on an international scale. These networks may have unequal transmission capacities and their own use policies. No one can guarantee the proper functioning of the Internet as a whole.

Access to the website is available 24/7, except in cases of force majeure or during website maintenance operations.

Safe does not guarantee that the website it makes available to Internet users will operate without interruption or error or in a secure and timely manner, or that it will be fully compatible with the systems, hardware or software of every user.

Safe cannot be held responsible for website access delays caused by failures or malfunctions of the Internet network.

Safe cannot be held responsible for any damage caused, directly or indirectly, as a result of connecting to the website. Each user uses the services offered by the website at their own risk and is responsible for the full cost of maintenance, repair and modifications to their own hardware or software.

In addition, Safe does not guarantee a period of service. The Company reserves the right, at any time, to change or temporarily discontinue the service without such changes or interruptions giving rise to compensation.

Cookies

To facilitate navigation on the website and to create optimal use conditions, Safe installs authentication cookies in your computer that record information in your connection terminal concerning your authentication data. You can refuse such cookies by following the procedure proposed by your browser.

Hyperlinks

This website contains hypertext links giving access to websites that are not published by the owner of this website. Therefore, the publication editor cannot be held responsible for the content of the sites accessed by this means.

With the exception of sites publishing information and/or content of an illegal and/or political, religious, pornographic or xenophobic nature, the creation of a hyperlink to our website is permitted.

However, the creation of a hyperlink in no way authorizes the reproduction of the elements found on the website or the presentation on third-party websites of the elements found on this website.

The creation of a hypertext link to this website is permitted only in cases where it sends the user to the homepage of the website.

Applicable law

The Safe website is published by a French company headquartered in France, and its general terms and conditions of use are governed by French law and must be construed in accordance with French law. Any dispute that cannot be settled amicably will be referred to the French courts.